Organisation – Infosys Limited

Infosys Limited is a well-known Indian IT company established in 1981. Its head office is in Bengaluru, Karnataka. It provides software and IT services to customers around the world.

Corporate Governance

The selected policy is the Corporate Governance and Ethics Policy of Infosys Limited. It promotes honesty, fairness, and transparency in business activities.

Purpose of Reviewing the Policy

The purpose is to understand how Infosys follows ethical practices and company rules. It also helps us understand how the company maintains trust and protects its stakeholders.

OBJECTIVES:

To Ensure Transparency:

The company should provide accurate and clear information about its financial position and business activities.

To Promote Accountability:

Directors and employees must accept responsibility for their decisions and actions.

To Protect Stakeholders' Interests:

The policy protects the interests of shareholders, employees, customers, suppliers, and society.

To Ensure Legal Compliance:

The company must follow applicable laws, rules, and regulations while carrying out its business activities.

ELEMENTS AND STANDARDS OF THE CODE OF CONDUCT

Honesty and Integrity:

Employees and management must act honestly in all business activities. They should avoid fraud, cheating, and dishonest practices.

Transparency:

The company must provide clear and accurate information about its financial position and business activities. Transparency builds trust among stakeholders.

Accountability:

Directors and employees must take responsibility for their decisions and actions. They should explain their decisions and accept the consequences of their mistakes.

Fairness and Equality:

The company must treat employees, customers, and shareholders fairly. Discrimination and favouritism should be avoided.

Confidentiality:

Employees must protect confidential company information and customer data. Such information should not be shared with unauthorised persons.

Legal Compliance:

The company and its employees must follow applicable laws and regulations. Legal compliance protects the company from penalties and legal problems.

ETHICS AND GOVERNANCE FRAMEWORK

Board of Directors:

The board of directors provides leadership and supervises the company's activities. It ensures that important decisions are made responsibly.

Role of Management:

Management implements company policies and supervises daily operations. It ensures that employees follow the company's rules and procedures.

Ethical Decision-Making:

Ethical decision-making means choosing actions that are honest, fair, and responsible. It helps the company solve problems without violating ethical principles.

Risk Management

Risk management involves identifying and controlling possible business risks. It helps the company prepare for financial, operational, and legal problems.

POLICY INTERPRETATION AND GOVERNANCE ANALYSIS

Policy interpretation and governance analysis help a company understand and evaluate its corporate governance and ethics policies. It examines whether the company follows transparency, accountability, fairness, honesty, and ethical business practices. The analysis includes reviewing the responsibilities of the board of directors, financial reporting, internal controls, risk management, and legal compliance. It also helps identify weaknesses in policy implementation and suggests corrective measures. Regular governance analysis improves decision-making, prevents unethical practices, protects stakeholders' interests, and supports the long-term success of the company.
